

UCLA

Daniel
Pearl
FOUNDATION

2009 Annual Daniel Pearl Memorial Lecture

CNN's Anderson Cooper

On Sunday, May 17, 2009, the UCLA Burkle Center for International Relations, the Daniel Pearl Foundation and the Yitzhak Rabin Hillel Center for Jewish Life at UCLA, will co-sponsor the 2009 Annual Daniel Pearl Memorial Lecture featuring CNN's Anderson Cooper.

Sunday, May 17, 2009

5:00-6:00 pm

(Doors Open at 4:15 pm)

UCLA Ackerman Union

Parking available for $9 in Lot 4

Admission and Seating

This event is free and open to the public. There are over 300 seats for general admission. Standing room is available for over 1,000 people. Additional seats will be available for people with disabilities or special needs.

Admission to General Seating Section (300)

Tickets are required for admission to the general seating section. Online registration for seated tickets will begin at Noon on Friday, April 3, 2009 via the UCLA Burkle Center website:

www.international.ucla.edu/burkle. *This is the only method for reserving tickets in the seated section. PRINTED TICKET AND PHOTO ID ARE REQUIRED FOR ADMISSION TO THIS SECTION.

Admission to Standing Section (1,000+)

Entrance to the standing section will be on a first available basis. No advance reservations are being taken for this section.

Instructions for All Guests

- Arrive early, doors open at 4:15 pm
- Admission entrance will be handled on a first available basis
- No bulky video equipment or flash photography permitted
- No food or beverages permitted
- Vacant seats will be filled at 4:45 pm
- Details for this event are subject to change.